Ed Retzer, a letter carrier on the Island route, was arrested night before last on a charge of using cancelled stamps, and gave bond for his appear-ance for a preliminary hearing. He asks the public, in a card in another column, to suspend judgment till farther developments show him to be guilty, and under all the existing circumstances it is only fair to do so.

A Writ of Habeas Corpus

Pastoral Relations Dissolved.

At a special meeting of the Presby-tery of Washington, held in the First tery of Washington, held in the First Presbyterian church yesterday, the request of the Presbyterian church of Moundaville and of its pastor, Rev. S. H. Doyle, to have the pastoral relations existing between them dissolved, came up for action. The request was granted. Rev. Mr. Doyle is a young minister of great zeal and energy, and has been a power in the presbytery, all of whose members, as well as his own congregation, are sorry to lose him. He received and accepted a call, however, to the Falls of Schuylkill church, near Philadelphia.

The Old Men's Club.

The Septusgenuran club was hand-somely entertained by Mr. W. N. Hollisomely entertained by Mr. W. N. Holliday yesterday at his residence on Hanover street, Martin's Ferry, in honor of his seventy-second birthday. The dinner, a most excellent one, was served at 1 o'clock. Those present were E. P. Rhodes, William Clark, Hiram Frazier, H. W. Smith, J. H. Drennen, Smith Hurst, James Kerr, William Inglebright, James A. Gray, David Park, N. Stillweil, Rev. Samuel Boyd and Rev. and Mrs. S. J. Bogle. Mr. Kerr, the youngest member of the club, will be seventy on Saturday, on which occasion he entertains the club.

"The Danger Stepal."

Of this play, to be seen at the Grand Opera House the last three nights of this week, the Chicago Herald says:
The play is one of the best of its class, and one of the few dramas that combine action with mechanical effects without at the same time sacrificing all literary merit. The telegraph office is a realistic scene, and the locomotive shown is really a remarkably perfect one. The scenery and mechanical effects are elaborate throughout. orate throughout.

"Blue Jeans" To-night.

"The Rising Sun Roarers," the famous "The Rising Sun Roarers," the famous village band in Joseph Arthur's idealic play of "Blue Jeans," will discourse several of their choice selections from the stage of the Opera House this evening. "Blue Jeans" is more popular to-day than any play from the pen of a native of this country. It has been more successful and secured larger audiences to see it than any play depicting a phase of American life ever presented in the last quarter of a cenjury. The flattering record of its career during exceedingly long runs in the various metropolitan cities is one of the remarkable things now to be recorded in the history of the American stage. It is at once quaint, sensational, idealic, It is at once quaint, sensational, idealic, comic and pathetic in appropriate and pleasing proportions.

THE ROYAL ARGANUM

Entertains a Large Audience at the Wheeling Opera House.

A FINE PROGRAMME IS RENDERED

And the Whole Affair Reflects Credit on the Committee and the Order. The Supreme Officers Present and Make Addresses-Good Music a Feature of the Affair.

At the Opera House last night the Wheeling council of the Royal Arcanum gave an entertainment, which was largely attended, the lower part of the theatre being filled beyond its seating capacity. The committee which arranged the affair was composed of Dr. H. B. Baguley, George B. Peabody, Will C. Brown, Charles B. Reed and Dr. William Petrie. Dr. Baguley presided, and introduced the orators of the evening. After a selection by the Opera House orchestra, which caused hearty applause, Hon. G. W. Atkinson was presented and made an eloquent address, sented and made an eloquent address, eulogistic of the principles of the order. He was followed by a song by the Royal Arcanum quartette, of Pittsburgh, an organization which reflects great credit on the order in the Smoky City. The Opera House orchestra played again and Charles E. Cornelius, orator of the Grand Council of Pennsylvania, addressed the adience on the aims and objects of the Arcanum, making an earnest and effective speech. He was followed by music by the quartette and orchestra, after which Hon. Joseph A. Laugfitt, past regent of the Grand A. Laugfitt, past regent of the Grand Council of Pennsylvania, made an ad-dress. He was by turns eloquent and amusing, and was listened to with undivided attention throughout by the large audience.

Music followed again, after which Chill W. Hazzard, editor of the Monon-ganela City Republican and supreme regent of the Royal Arcanum, was introduced. He is a famous story teller, and he put his audience into a good humor at the start by telling a good story well. He followed this with a recommendation of the order to general favor, his talk ranging quickly "from grave to gay, from lively to severe." He said recently at Scranton he headed a procession into a theatre where the order celebrated its anniversary. The band was instructed to play "something approinstructed to play "something appropriate," and the speaker led the procession. As it filed down the centre aisle he was shocked to hear the band strike up-

"See the hosts of sin advancing.

His talk was highly appreciated. It was followed by another selection by the orchestra, and the audience was dismissed with very pleasant recollec-tions of the exercises.

"The Witch of Eudor."

One scene in particular in "The Witch of Endor" deserves special notice. This setting represents the environments of the Prodigal Son when vironments of the Prodigal Son when in the full possession of his patrimony and while at the zenith of his short lived pleasure. The Prodigal Son is costumed in gorgeous robes and is surrounded by a gay throng of richly bedecked companions. In this scene are introduced dances and choruses for his amusement and the contrast between the life and warmth and beauty of this setting and the one immediately following is indeed vivid. He is next discovered as the herder of swine, and finally is seen returning to his kind father with faltering footsteps, razged and hungry. The story that this part of the entertainment tells will leave a deep impression on all who behold it.

Lots of Animals in it.

Powell, who so delighted large audiences for 200 consecutive nights in New York, will come to the Opera House for York, will come to the Opera House for a matinee and night Saturday, December S. The programme which he will present promises to be even more interesting than his former visit, including several new illusions which are inventions of his own. One of the features of the performance will be "After the Flood, or the Ark of Noah," in which numberless birds and animals make their mysterious appearance. It is a their mysterious appearance. It is a common rumor that the birds and animals are imitation, but such is not the case, for when turned loose upon the stage they will be found to be very much alive. The Modern Mother has found that her little ones are im proved more by the pleasant laxative, Syrup of Figs, when in need of the laxative effect of a gentle remedy than by any other, and that it is more acceptable to them. Children enjoy it and it benefits them. The true remedy, Syrup of Figs, is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only.

Go to Arion Hall to-night and have a good time. 25 cents admission, with a first-class supper.

QUAKER BREAD is the most wonderful health food yet produced from the Wheeling Bakery. Made from pure liquid malt.

Don'r forget the pazzar at Odd Fellows' hall to-morrow. Dinner and supper served. Many novel features.

WITH all the good things in the world people prefer something new, and here comes the United States Bak-ing Co,'s wonderful Pan-cake Flour, which has just been introduced to the which has just been introduced to the trade, creating a sensation never before equaled for health, comfort and economy. Even the dyspeptic, who has long been denied the luxury of buckwheat cakes for breakfast, or flannel cakes for supper, says with this new Pan-cake Flour, he has hot cakes without a pang of remores.

A REAUTIFUL Picture Card given with each load of Quaker Bread. Ask your grocer for it.

THE Pan-Handle Dyeing establishment, owned by John Heilmeier, at No. 1431 Market street, is the best equipped house of its kind in Wheeling. In addition to the dyeing and cleaning depart-ments a corps of first-class tailors are employed, who can do repairing as neat as it is possible.
